Project 1 - Milestone 1

I plan to make “The Office” TV show app for fans. The app will use a tab bar controller. It will include a character section with a picker for each character. It will change the picture when a name is picked as well as the description for the character. There will also be a random fact tab that will have a picker with the characters names and it will give random facts about each character. There will be a voting tab that will have a tableview with each of the characters. You will be able to give them a rating. Then there will be a rating tab that has a table view and it will rank each of the characters based on the ratings from the voting tab. My app will be used by fans of “The Office” TV show and it will give them information about the show as well as satisfy their need for “The Office” content. There are quiz apps about the office as well as quote apps, but nothing to this extent. I will only need to download images of the characters from the internet and everything else that I will need to create the app should be within Xcode.
